There was a pedophile on discord who kept talking to me. I was trying to distance myself but he didn't quite understand social cues. I have extreme social anxiety, so it was very hard for me to go out and ask him to stop.

As you probably know, the old precure server was shut down and a few new ones were made, the main two being PreCure and PreCord. The pedophile was blocked from PreCure because they'd seen what he said in the old server.

The pedophile figured out I was not blocked from PreCure and spammed me continually, asking for me to ask the staff for him to be let in. I was not doing well at that time. I was twelve years old, but lying about being fourteen because I was scared people would be mean to be about my age (social anxiety is really weird). I'm currently 13, not lying anymore since my age is ok with discord's TOS.

I asked the mods on PreCure to help get him to stop, and they were absolutely amazing. I've said it a million times, but thank you guys so much. They told him exactly what I wanted to say but couldn't due to social anxiety. "You're gross, stay away from anyu, stay away from the server, nobody owes you forgiveness." I agreed with them and he knew I did not want him to talk to me and still dmed me. I didn't block him because of extreme social anxiety.

Once that was over, I realized that he was still allowed in the PreCord server. I didn't want to be in a server with him but I figured I should report him to the mods rather than leave, since there are many minors in the PreCord server. I asked in the general chat if there was a modmail function, then this conversation happened:

(i went by amiasty at the time. Amiasty and anyu are the same)

We actually don't have modmail to my knowledge, we prefer direct communication. Was there something you wanted to report or feedback you wanted to give?

Anyu 08/22/2022 10:18 PM

I'm sorry, I just realized I can't find one

Yes please

There is a person in the server who said some inappropriate things about the cures bun bun, previously pohucho

klmnz 08/22/2022 10:20 PM

Ok, where have they done so? Sorry, can't find it.

Anyu 08/22/2022 10:20 PM

It was in the old server, where he said he had fantasies of the cures spoon-feeding him

And stuff like that

He excuses it by saying it's because of past trauma but even after that he did inexcusable stuff

Like projecting himself onto a real person's groomer and then trying to get them to forgive the groomer

Let me take screenshots of that really quick

Sorry I took so long, I wanted to cover the victim's name and my editing feature sucks

First, have you blocked them yet?

Anyu 08/22/2022 10:30 PM
Not yet
I'm a bit scared to
I have bad anxiety lol
That's also why I couldn't tell him no when he kept asking
I'm sorry

klmnz 08/22/2022 10:36 PM
These are mostly private conversations, see rule #18. I don't think anything here quite rises to the level where we may need to be involved, yet.

Please block them and if they get weird with you on server, like keep trying to contact you, then we know and we'll be able to step in given that that'll then be using our server for harassment and it will be dealt with swiftly.

Also, we have to make our own determinations, so even if actions have been taken against them on other servers, we have to kinda see it over here too before we do anything.

But yeah, I've made the mods aware, we'll be on the lookout, I'd block first, and if they keep trying anything through the server, we can help from there. Absolutely no need to be sorry about it, I get it.

Anyu 08/22/2022 10:36 PM
Thank you and alright. I'll keep you posted for anything important.

The rules in PreCord are always changing, but these are what klmnz was referring to:

[Rule #03]

The Staff is not responsible for your Private DMs with other members and will not intervene in Private arguments.

HOWEVER, we may still consider actions in cases where the Discord ToS or our Server's rules were violated which will result in punishment in proportion to the infraction(s).

[Rule #04]

Any conduct between two PreCord members in a DM will still be subject to Conduct & General Rules

[Rule #05]

If you report an issue in a DM between yourself and another member or set of members, please screenshot all conversations in their ENTIRITY, no convenient snips. Also provide as much information as possible along with corroborating artifacts.

The mod I talked to ended up chatting with the other mods and they decided to classify him doing this, dming me (someone he thought was 14) as a pedophile after I told him not to, as a conflict and put us in a temporary chat room. I don't have any screenshots from this because it was a temporary room and was closed after it was resolved.

I was super scared and the mod knew that he had harassed me and still put us together in a chat room to work it out ourselves. I was really upset by this point and just listed what he had done. He defended his past actions and, I believe, repeated some of them in the process (my memory on this isn't great due to being on the verge of an anxiety attack the entire time). We finished the conversation with me asking him to stop talking to me for the 1282394th time and him telling me "bbut we're friends so no i wont stop" for the 1282394th time.

After, the mods told us that due to his behavior in that room, he'd be banned.

This is a good thing, but it's worrying that the screenshots of him saying he has romantic feelings for children isn't enough to ban him from the server. I gave them proof that a pedophile was in their server, with full screenshots just like they asked, and they let him stay there, classifying my report as a conflict between members when it was harassment.

Here's evidence the mods know there's kids in the server:

I don't think though those topics really care if you're a "minor" or not, they are a symptom of human existence

Inubashiri 🐶 09/19/2022 6:31 PM

We have a decent sized minor population so we must set a min standard of conduct

Inubashiri 🐶 08/13/2022 12:48 AM

Considering there are minors here and potential could be to get in trouble if said minors parents saw it, we'd rather just blanket eliminate such problems.

@Daiquanpinckney4 please remember the rule about age restriction content, there are minors in this server

one thing I should state, your channel is your own business but in here being a public server and minors lets be careful about H-Content please

That's the end of the main part of my bone to pick with PreCord, but there's one more part.

<https://prettycure.fandom.com/f/p/4400000000000102487>

Precure Fandom announced a collaboration with PreCord. Precure Fandom is where I started off in the Precure fandom (just a heads-up, if fandom is capitalized i'm talking ab the website and if not im talking ab the fandom as a whole) and It's known to have many, many children on it. I was on it from 10-12 and a lot of my friends on it were also kids.

I made a comment on the post giving screenshots of my dms with klmnz and saying, basically, it's not a safe space for minors. They took my comment down and made this post:

<https://prettycure.fandom.com/f/p/4400000000000102580>

They were clearly talking about me and somehow claiming I didn't give proof for my allegations, which, yes, I gave them full screenshots. Basically, they accused me of lying about being harassed by this dude and said it was "complicated," which, it really isn't. If you're the owner of a server with kids in it and get proof that someone in your server is a pedophile, ban them. Just a couple clicks.

They finished off this announcement with, "...any off-topic or any posts that tries to paint PreCord in a bad light will be deleted." That speaks for itself.
